DEAR CADENA COMMUNITY:

Today, we address you with a heart full of gratitude for 20 years of humanitarian work. Since 2005, this project, which began as an initiative conceived by five friends who felt the call to help after a disaster, has become an international organization that each year responds to hundreds of emergencies in dozens of countries, plants the seeds of change in new generations, and builds resilience worldwide.

So far, over the course of these two decades, we have proven that everyone has the potential to transform indifference into action and that, when we come together, we really can create a more just and resilient world. Despite the enormous challenges we have faced, our achievements have been even greater: we have benefited millions of people and strengthened entire communities with this great chain of help that reaches where it is most needed.

None of this would have been possible without each and every one of you: the allies who amplify our impact, the partners who link efforts and communities, our volunteers, who are the heart of each intervention, and our entire operational team across our offices, who sustain our work day after day. Thanks to you, CADENA has become what it is today and continues striving to practice Tikkun Olam: contributing to repairing the world.

Today, we look back and see the shared legacy of each person who has been part of CADENA, who has touched us with their story and transformed us through their commitment, and all we can say is thank you.

Thank you for believing in us, trusting us, and walking alongside us.
Thank you for being there when it is needed most.
Thank you for carrying forward the dream at the heart of CADENA.

With warmth and admiration,

Ari, Benjamin, Fernando, Isaac and José
Founding Council of CADENA

A message from Sol Bentolila, General Secretary of CADENA

2025 was a great year for CADENA: we celebrated our 20th anniversary. 20 years of Tikkun Olam, transforming indifference into action, reaching those most in need, and delivering aid hand in hand. 20 years of forging connections to promote solidarity, educating young people who will become the humanitarian leaders of the future, activating civil society, and helping companies achieve their corporate social responsibility goals. But above all, 20 years of upholding the name of Jewish communities worldwide.

What began as an idea among five friends and a first office in Mexico is now a network of more than 13 offices around the world. We have been present in crises and emergencies, always committed to arriving when needed most.

In these 20 years, we have helped more than five million people in 39 countries through over 1,900 humanitarian interventions, and I can proudly say that our impact is reflected in every community we support, in the children and young people we educate, and above all, in every volunteer who has been part of this journey. Without them, none of what we have achieved would be possible.

And just as CADENA has impacted lives, it has also transformed mine. It has taught me how much more we can give to build a better world. That small actions do change lives. That listening to a community is the only way to actually understand its needs. And that water, truly, is life: it changes realities and transforms entire communities.

Today, I only have words of gratitude. Thank you to every donor, every volunteer, and every professional who has been part of this journey and has allowed us to get here.

From now on, we will continue to grow and further professionalize each office, helping more people and always upholding the reputation of the Jewish communities.

We promote the values of:

Help

We provide immediate assistance in disasters, emergencies, and humanitarian crises, covering prevention, response, relief, and recovery.

Education

We promote co-responsibility among children, teenagers, and adults, fostering a humanitarian identity and encouraging interest in participating in humanitarian aid efforts.

Raising Awareness

Together with civil society and the private sector, we share the vital task of helping others, with the understanding that we all inhabit this world and hold the responsibility to contribute to its improvement.

What is CADENA?

We inspire and call on people to take a humanitarian stance with the aim of building a more resilient, just, and equitable world for all.

CADENA is a global humanitarian organization that responds to emergencies, disasters, and crises. We work hand in hand with affected communities, focusing on prevention, sustainable development, and education.

We are the humanitarian arm of Jewish communities around the world, alleviating human suffering and providing aid to all people, regardless of origin, religion, or beliefs.

Being CADENA means daring to transform realities, challenging the status quo, and believing in a better world. It means trusting that each person can build it by facing a reality that dispels indifference.

LEARN MORE ABOUT
CADENA HERE:

Mission

Alleviating human suffering by reducing the vulnerability of communities in constant risk of disasters and crises, promoting a culture of prevention and inclusion, impartiality, neutrality, humanity, and independence.

Vision

Being the humanitarian arm of the Jewish communities worldwide, bringing hand in hand assistance to the most vulnerable people in disasters and crises, regardless of their origin, creed, or religion. We put into action one of the highest principles of Judaism: Tikkun Olam, the act of repairing the world. At the same time, we inspire youth and society in general to be agents of positive change to build a better future.

Our story

These 20 years have been marked by collaborative support, shared stories, and communities supported around the world. We are deeply grateful to each and every person who is and has been part of CADENA, dedicating their time and energy to this journey to build a more resilient world together. We celebrate 20 years of helping to heal the world.

2005

Hurricane Stan devastated several communities in Mexico. A group of five friends distributed supplies collected by the Jewish community to those affected by this disaster. This is how CADENA began.

2006

One of the friends from that group delivered humanitarian aid to the Sierra Tarahumara, affected by frosts, including blankets, clothing, and food, in collaboration with the Food Bank of Chihuahua.

2007

Following severe floods in Tabasco, Mexico, a group of volunteers gathered to collect supplies. Together with the Mexican Navy, this aid was distributed in affected areas.

2008

Our group of five young men, who began this journey three years ago, legally established CADENA A.C.

2019

After a year of work, we formally finished the reconstruction of the Venustiano Carranza School in Jojutla, Morelos, Mexico.

We received a visit from Mami Mizutori (UN) in Chiapas, in acknowledgment CADENA's comprehensive response, reconstruction and sustainable development model.

We carried out international interventions in Indonesia, India, the Bahamas, and Paraguay.

We opened our office in Colombia.

2020

We adapted our humanitarian work in the face of the COVID-19 pandemic, donating medical kits, protection kits, and food to vulnerable populations and launching KOL by CADENA, a 24/7 medical, psychological, and spiritual support platform.

We continued responding during the rainy, cyclone, and hurricane season, incorporating sanitary protocols and comprehensive humanitarian assistance to reduce risks and vulnerabilities.

2018

We concluded the construction of 219 homes in Chiapas, Mexico.

We strengthened our Economic Recovery program and our Psychosocial Area.

We carried out our first CADENA Initiative International Final and launched educational programs such as CADENA College and Tikkun Olam.

We established offices in Chile and Argentina.

2017

We held our first CADENA Initiative Contest in Miami.

We carried out international interventions in Kenya, Haiti, Peru, Colombia, Dominica, Puerto Rico, and Costa Rica.

Following earthquakes in Mexico during September, we launched one of our largest humanitarian responses, distributing essential items, performing rescue operations in collapsed buildings, installing shelters and temporary classrooms, and starting reconstruction programs in Morelos and Chiapas, helping over 81,000 people.

We opened offices in Costa Rica, South Africa, and Israel.

2021

We carried out international interventions in Haiti and Honduras and rescue operations in the United States and Mexico. We aided migrant people with the Care Center for Migrant Women in Cucuta, Colombia.

We strengthened our social causes through projects such as the Florence Nightingale Committee (dignified menstruation and gender equity) and Water for All (Agua Ya), providing vulnerable communities with access to safe water.

2009

CADENA's educational mission was born, designed to raise awareness about disasters, crises, and emergencies among new generations.

2010

We went beyond Mexican borders, providing support after the devastating Haiti earthquake. We collaborated with Civil Protection and the Mexican Army, sending our search and rescue team, the Go Team, to the disaster zone.

2011

While we continued working in Mexico, we responded to a media call to help people affected by drought in Turkana, Kenya.

We deployed our Go Team to Turkey in response to a severe earthquake.

2012

We launched educational programs such as CADENA Young and the CADENA Initiative.

Together with T.E.N., we set in motion our Aldea Independencia project in Pluma Hidalgo, Oaxaca, to assist communities in matters of health, education, infrastructure, and nutrition.

2016

We officially opened our United States office in Miami, Florida.

We became the first Latin American member of Start Network and participated in the World Humanitarian Summit in Istanbul.

We responded internationally in Ecuador, Belize, Guatemala, Haiti, and Costa Rica.

2015

On our tenth anniversary, we became nationally and internationally consolidated, furthering our presence with the opening of offices in Guatemala and the United States.

We participated in key forums on humanitarian action and risk reduction in Japan, Guatemala, and Geneva, Switzerland.

We responded internationally in Nepal, Vanuatu, and Guatemala.

2014

We received the National Civil Protection Award in Mexico in the Help category.

We installed seismic alerts in Costa Chica de Guerrero, Mexico.

We carried out three international interventions in India, Kenya, and Chile.

2013

We strengthened and professionalized programs in our Prevention, Emergencies, and Education areas.

We carried out our next international interventions in the Philippines, where we distributed 500 water filters, benefiting 10,000 people.

2022

We responded internationally in Ecuador, Malawi, Poland-Ukraine, Uganda, Panama, Kenya, and Puerto Rico.

We established our humanitarian corridor, a series of aid points for migrant people in Costa Rica, Panama, Mexico, Colombia, and the United States.

2023

Following the devastation caused by Hurricane Otis in Guerrero, Mexico, we delivered food, hygiene, and cleaning kits, carry out medical brigades and install roofs.

We provided aid in Turkey, Peru, Morocco, Israel, Kenya, and the Democratic Republic of Congo.

2024

We reinforced our global reach through international interventions in Spain, Brazil, and Kenya. We celebrated the tenth anniversary of our From Waste to Change program with the installation of 250 roofs, recycling over 960,000 containers.

MIRADAS was born as part of our yearly interventions in Turkana, Kenya, incorporating cataract surgeries to improve the quality of life of local communities.

We responded internationally in the United States, Ecuador, the Dominican Republic, Venezuela, Uganda, the Philippines, Jamaica, and El Salvador.

In Costa Rica, we received the Vivir la Inclusión Seal, awarded by ACNUR, as well as UNICEF's acknowledgement.

In Colombia, we received the Gold Cross Javier de Nicolás Civil Order of Merit, awarded by the Council of Bogotá.

Lines of Action

At CADENA, our humanitarian work is shaped by seven lines of action that guide each project, program, and intervention to ensure coherence, focus, and sustainable impact.

Our goal is to expand our reach and strengthen support for communities and individuals in vulnerable situations. To achieve this, we are working to consolidate and establish new local offices in different regions around the world, bringing aid closer to where it is needed most.

Practicing Tikkun Olam means rejecting indifference in the face of the suffering of others and embracing a shared responsibility to address global challenges. It calls on us to recognize our common humanity, act with a universal perspective, and turn intention into concrete actions that contribute to creating a more just and harmonious relationship between people and their environment.

Our seven lines of action translate our mission of repairing the world into real, measurable impact.

Our Commitment to the SDG's

In a world where disasters, crises and emergencies are on the rise, it is ever more urgent to act for the benefit of the planet and humanity. Because of this, at CADENA, we strive to act in accordance with the Sustainable Development Goals, a universal call to act for a better future for the next generations.

Our projects, programs, and interventions aim to contribute to reducing poverty, providing quality healthcare and education, taking climate action, and reducing inequalities.

2025 Results

This year, we mark 20 years of humanitarian action around the world. From each of our offices, we continue striving to practice Tikkun Olam, to help repair the world, providing hand in hand aid wherever it is needed.

Our 2025 results reflect the collective efforts of our volunteers, donors, partners, and local teams whose work makes our mission possible. More than just numbers, they represent stories of resilience, people supported, and communities strengthened. Each intervention carried out this year reaffirms our conviction that humanitarian action has the power to transform realities.

RESPONSE TO LOS ANGELES FIRES

At the start of the year, a series of catastrophic wildfires devastated the Los Angeles metropolitan area, destroying hundreds of homes, businesses, and community centers and causing significant losses.

At CADENA International, our Miami volunteers participated in assistance efforts for those affected by this crisis. In collaboration with Skylake Synagogue, dozens of young people collected essential items requested by the Salvation Army, sorting and packaging donations for thier delivery in the disaster zone.

EARTHQUAKE RESPONSE IN THE PHILIPPINES

On October 10, two intense earthquakes shook the Davao Oriental region in the Philippines, causing severe damage to homes, infrastructure, and basic services. In the face of this situation, we deployed a volunteer team to support response efforts and aid community recovery processes.

We assisted communities in Manay, Tarragona, and Caraga, providing safe water, psychosocial support, and shelter reinforcement, thanks to Start Network and in coordination with local authorities and other humanitarian organizations, such as World Jewish Relief, Operation Blessing, and the Citizens' Disaster Response Center.

Thanks to our volunteers, allies, and donors, we were able to help over 7,000 people with community water systems, psychoeducational activities, psychological consultations, and building materials.

FLOOD RESPONSE IN MERIDA, VENEZUELA

Following the flooding of the Chama River in Merida, Venezuela, we provided humanitarian assistance to communities affected by this disaster.

After conducting an evaluation, we delivered food and hygiene kits, cots, blankets, buckets, water purification tablets, and farming kits, together with Fundación Arcoiris and Meals4Hope.

We also held protection workshops focused on children, with a gender-sensitive approach and giving special attention to people with disabilities to strengthen the resilience of affected communities.

RESPONSE TO HURRICANE MELISSA IN THE DOMINICAN REPUBLIC

As Hurricane Melissa made its way across the Caribbean, over a million people in the Dominican Republic were affected by torrential rainfall and severe flooding, which damaged infrastructure, homes, and essential services.

In response to this emergency, we launched a humanitarian intervention together with our office in the Dominican Republic to deliver aid to vulnerable communities near the Haitian border.

Thanks to the support of Airlink and Start Network, our team distributed food and hygiene kits, installed water filters to grant access to this resource for over 1,500 people, provided 100 medical consultations, and held menstrual health workshops for more than 150 people.

SAFE WATER FOR UGANDA

In August, at CADENA International, in partnership with Stars Uganda, we launched an intervention to provide safe water to the Kisima I Island, located in Lake Victoria, Uganda. Through the installation of water filters for 35 families, we indirectly benefited over 200 people with access to this essential resource.

RESPONSE TO HURRICANE MELISSA IN JAMAICA

On October 28, Category 5 Hurricane Melissa made landfall in Jamaica as the strongest storm to ever hit the island. At CADENA International, we deployed our team to support early recovery efforts with food, solar lamps, and building tools and materials, benefiting around 200 people.

DENTAL BRIGADE IN EL SALVADOR

Estancia is a rural community in Northeastern El Salvador where a great part of the population suffers from caries, oral pain, and tooth loss, causing many villagers to require dentures from a young age.

In response to this need, we deployed a team of two volunteer dentists who, thanks to the support of Volaris, arrived in El Salvador. In Estancia, they worked alongside Campesinos para el Desarrollo Humano, a local organization, collaborating on their comprehensive oral care project.

Our volunteers provided 294 consultations to children and teenagers, promoting prevention and treatment from an early age in the community.

Argentina

2025 was a year of affirmation for CADENA Argentina. In a challenging context, traversed by emergencies and persisting inequalities, we doubled our commitment to people-centered humanitarian action.

We established teams, strengthened ties, and were present where we were needed most. Each intervention and each partnership was an opportunity to support, listen, and respond empathically. Our volunteers proved, once again, that organized solidarity can be greatly transformative.

The growth of our office is the fruit of a collective effort: our team, volunteers, and allies who trust and support us.

Going forward, we aim to continue growing without losing our essence. We strive to deepen our impact and further our response capacities, keeping people at the center. We believe in humanitarian action to build community, resilience, and a better future.

2025 was filled with learning and showed that together, we can make a difference.

FLOOD RESPONSE IN BAHÍA BLANCA

In the face of one of the worst climate emergencies to strike the city of Bahía Blanca in recent years, CADENA Argentina launched two key interventions: an immediate one, during the emergency's most critical point, in March, and a later one, focused on community support, in June.

Over the course of our first intervention, we deployed our team to assess urgent needs together with the Red Cross. We also coordinated donations with the local Jewish community and ensured access to safe water through the installation of 25 filters across key institutions, such as schools, hospitals, dining halls, and community homes. We also managed the delivery of essential items, such as food, clothing, mattresses, and cleaning and hygiene products. This operation allowed us to channel over two truckfuls of aid, directly benefiting over 3,500 people.

During our second intervention, as the city's situation stabilized, we prioritized community resilience. We held first aid, health, and menstrual management workshops, created recreational spaces for children, and carried out activities with local organizations. This stage also represented an opportunity to work together with the Bahía Blanca Kehilá, where we promoted the establishment of references and basic emergency protocols. In the meantime, we simultaneously worked in four neighbourhood dining halls, providing practical tools and support to the women and children who visit them daily.

LADETI COMMUNITY DINING HALL

Between March and June 2025, we carried out three humanitarian interventions focused on strengthening the community that frequents the Ladeti Dining Hall in Don Torcuato.

Our volunteers worked across several different lines of action: they organized recreational activities for children centered around the management of emotions, imagination, and creativity; evaluated blood pressure and glucose levels; and held workshops on menstrual health, contraceptive methods, bodily needs, and self-esteem.

Finally, they distributed 120 school kits, as well as warm clothes and blankets, to help people face the winter.

CHACARITA

On May 13, a group of volunteers who are beginning their path in CADENA gathered in our office to cook 35 warm meals, which they delivered at the Ser Humano Dining Hall in Chacarita that same night, a place frequented by people experiencing houslessness in search of food.

This action, aside from providing tangible aid, was an opportunity for new volunteers to experience their first approach to humanitarian assistance.

BARRIO 31

On April 6, CADENA Argentina, in collaboration with EcoVisual, carried out a humanitarian intervention to aid children in Barrio 31.

While the EcoVisual staff conducted eye exams and provided glasses for 60 children and teenagers who needed them, our volunteers created a recreational space focused on creativity and imagination for those waiting.

We were also joined by volunteers who offered free haircuts, which transformed this initiative into an environment of comprehensive and personalized care.

Colombia

I joined CADENA Colombia six years ago, when the office was founded, driven by my desire to work for a humanitarian organization and use my skills to help others.

For me, being part of CADENA means working with a defined purpose and clear values to help others. If there's one experience that marked our history as an office, it was the emergency in Providencia after Hurricane Iota.

It was our first major response in the country, and besides raising our profile, it showed us that we can act boldly and truly reach out, hand in hand, to where we are needed most.

Looking to the future, I dream of seeing CADENA Colombia grow. We will continue working to become a stronger office, with greater visibility and a greater capacity to respond to more emergencies and support more communities in our country.

EARTHQUAKE IN PARATEBUENO

In 2025, at CADENA Colombia, we immediately responded to an earthquake that shook Paratebueno, Cundinamarca, and neighboring municipalities. We were the first humanitarian organization to arrive on the ground, at a time when over 1,000 people had lost their homes and when access to basic services was severely limited.

During our first intervention, we assessed damages and delivered food, hygiene kits, clothing items, and blankets, and provided psychosocial support for families in critical situations. We also worked alongside local authorities to establish a temporary shelter. On a subsequent intervention, we reinforced our response by distributing new essential items and conducting technical follow-up evaluations in the most affected communities, documenting over 350 destroyed homes. We were able to assist 1,940 people in total.

1026 ALERT: FLOODS IN CHOCÓ

Heavy rains registered in the Chocó department severely affected indigenous, Afrocolombian, and rural communities with limited access to safe water. In the face of this situation, we launched a humanitarian intervention to assist these populations and reduce sanitary risks derived from the emergency.

In rural areas of Quibdó, including Icho, Atrato, Neguá, and Munguindó, we distributed 2,500 water jugs in coordination with Fundación Postobón, benefiting over 2,300 affected families.

"We thought we were all alone. When CADENA arrived, it was the first time someone asked us what we needed instead of simply distributing things. They listened".

— María del Carmen Rodríguez, mother of a family affected by the earthquake in Paratebueno.

ANTICIPATORY INTERVENTION IN LA GUAJIRA

In response to recurring flood risks in La Guajira and thanks to the support of Start Network, we launched an anticipatory intervention to prevent and strengthen local capacities before an emergency strikes.

Through the rehabilitation of a water well in the Wamayao community, the distribution of food and other essential items, gender-based violence prevention workshops, and disaster risk reduction informative sessions, our team held interventions in the municipalities of Uribia and Maicao. Additionally, in collaboration with Plan Internacional, World Vision, GOAL, and HelpAge, we distributed water storage tanks, purifying tablets, and water filters, and rehabilitated a water system in a Wayúu community.

We supported 1,000 people in total through access to safe water, the distribution of essential supplies, and the development of learning processes.

FLORENCE NIGHTINGALE COMMITTEE: BENPOSTA SCHOOL

Between August and November, our Florence Nightingale Committee supported 110 children through workshops designed to teach them about their bodies with no fear or shame. Over the course of four months, we talked about puberty, the menstrual cycle and the body's functions, self-care, menstrual hygiene, and dignity.

During the last month, we worked with Fundación Sueños de Lili, with whom we opened up a conversation about sexual and reproductive health, contraception, consent, and informed decisions. Thanks to these sessions, we built a safe space where 110 girls and boys had the chance to learn more about their bodies and the changes they are going through, and to prepare to make more conscious decisions in the future.

Costa Rica

2025 was a year marked by change and unexpected challenges for CADENA Costa Rica. We experienced one of the most difficult years for the global humanitarian sector due to funding cuts at all levels.

For CADENA Costa Rica, this scenario meant making complex decisions, carefully managing available resources, and strengthening our commitment to the people we serve.

One of our main achievements was the mobilization of our volunteers, confirming that, even in uncertain times, there are far more causes that bring us together, and that the difference lies in the talent, commitment, and passion of our people. Through coordinated efforts, we impacted more than 30,000 people, prioritizing dignified and personalized support, where every story and every name mattered, highlighting the special nature of our “hand in hand” approach.

In 2026, we aim to consolidate and strengthen our office. We will focus on continuing to demonstrate, through results, the work we do in the country and our contribution to humanitarian efforts at the regional and international levels. Our vision for the future aims to grow, deepening alliances and capabilities, without ever losing the human and professional approach that defines us at CADENA.

MIGRATION CRISIS

Since 2022, CADENA Costa Rica has assisted migrants in our country through an initial humanitarian intervention that progressively became one of our most important permanent projects with a comprehensive humanitarian structure. Today, three years later, we have established a one-of-a-kind dormitory, as well as two adapted containers to house medical examination rooms equipped for primary care, a psychological consultation room, and clothing to be freely selected by people. These spaces became humanitarian stations with assistance protocols and a qualified team to respond to the needs of people in transit.

The scope of our work became evident in 2024, when, in a single operation, we aided 92,941 people through medical consultations, essential supply kits, clothing, shoes, diapers, food, water, and water filters.

Later on, as a result of the work we had done, United Nations agencies, IOM, and UNICEF joined us as implementing partners, supported by international actors such as Doctors Without Borders, PADF, and Hands for Help, as well as several Costa Rican civil society initiatives. These collaborations strengthened interinstitutional coordination and furthered the intervention’s reach.

Nowadays, this permanent project continues to directly benefit migrant people in our country.

YO RESPONDO

The Yo Respondo program was born in CADENA Costa Rica to train young people as first responders in emergencies and disasters, providing them with tools for leadership, risk management, first aid, and psychosocial resilience, integrating both theory and practice. It emerged in response to our office president's concern for offering young people ways to become responsible citizens committed to service and ready to act in crises. Today, it has become one of our most important educational programs.

Our results have been significant: over a hundred young people have received training, three generations have graduated, and we have created an expanding network that proves that immediate response does not need to come from afar, but can arise from within communities themselves when people have access to adequate tools. This year, we launched our fourth generation in the Liceo de San José, demonstrating that the initiative is not only kept alive but continues to grow and ignite the enthusiasm of humanitarians in training who will become agents of change in the future.

The background of the image is a blue-tinted photograph of a museum or exhibition space. On the left, two people are seen from behind, looking at a display. The right side of the image features a decorative pattern of white dots on a blue background, resembling a stylized map or a textured surface.

United States

2025 has been a year of growth for CADENA USA, where we have strengthened our mission to develop leaders with a humanitarian commitment through education. From our office, we continue to promote programs that transform solidarity into concrete and sustainable actions.

Our educational programs, Regeneration, CADENA Club, CADENA Initiative, and Tutors for a Cause, have been at the heart of our impact. Through them, hundreds of young people have developed leadership, social awareness, and tools to actively engage in their communities. At the same time, we have supported migrant children and families in their educational integration, demonstrating that education is one of the most powerful forms of healing and resilience.

I am deeply grateful to every student, tutor, volunteer, and partner who makes this work possible. From the United States, we continue to build a community committed to a more just and compassionate world.

Let's keep changing the world.

VISITING PEOPLE EXPERIENCING HOUSELESSNESS

CADENA Miami's adult volunteers, together with young CADENA Club members, gather at least twice a year to carry out humanitarian interventions to help people experiencing houslessness. Over the course of several weeks, they collect products to assemble hygiene kits and partner with donors to provide warm meals.

In May, we had the opportunity to visit people experiencing homelessness in Downtown Miami, sharing warm meals and hygiene kits with the support of Hermanos de la Calle, an organization that helps people leave the streets and find a home, and Burger King, which donated 100 meals for this intervention.

GROCERY SHOPPING FOR HOLOCAUST SURVIVORS

Throughout the year, month after month, 25 CADENA Miami volunteers buy groceries for 27 Holocaust survivors, with whom they also share phone calls and visits, building close friendships and providing their company and support. Thanks to our donors, we have been able to help around 30 people a month since 2021.

"This program is extremely valuable to me because it shows me the importance of community. We have these great people living among us who have suffered so much, and it's important for us to take care of them and bring them joy".

— Stephanie Gutt, volunteer with CADENA United States.

Guatemala

At CADENA, the humanitarian arm of the Jewish Community of Guatemala, humanitarian action is a permanent commitment to life, dignity, and solidarity. 2025 held before us complex challenges that required rapid, coordinated, and people-centered responses. In the face of each emergency and need, we reaffirmed our calling of service and responsibility towards the country's most vulnerable communities.

Throughout the year, we have provided timely assistance and strengthened community capacities, guided at all times by the humanitarian principles that instruct our actions. This work was made possible thanks to the tireless commitment of our volunteers, the trust of our donors, and the support of partners who share our vision for a more empathetic and resilient country.

This annual report reflects a collaborative effort and our conviction that humanitarian assistance is a tool for social transformation. Beyond numbers, it tells stories of hope, cooperation, and empathy that drive us to move forward. At CADENA Guatemala, we renew our commitment to continue responding professionally, sensitively, and responsibly, strengthening our capacity to take action before present and future challenges.

PLAZA DE TOROS, SECTOR 6, ZONA 13

On February 9, 2025, CADENA carried out an intervention at the Plaza de Toros, Sector 6, Zona 13 neighbourhood in Ciudad de Guatemala, where we installed a water harvesting, storage, and filtration system to improve the community's access to safe drinking water.

We implemented this system in collaboration with CADENA Jewish Community of Guatemala and Fundación Azteca volunteers, directly benefiting families with a safer and more stable water supply. This project was proposed by students at Plantel Azteca, who won the CADENA Initiative contest.

We also distributed food and school supply kits, contributing to the food safety and educational well-being of families.

SAYAXCHÉ, PETÉN

On June 16, we held a workshop to strengthen community resilience capacities for CADENA CJG's personnel and Comunidad Iniciativa's volunteers in Sayaxché, Petén. This activity was part of a series of activities designed to enhance the team's skills across departments in Guatemala.

During the session, we touched on key topics such as the community resilience model to strengthen multiple local systems, disaster risk management and preparedness, as well as specific strategies for risk reduction in agriculture. Participants also shared their learnings to promote a culture of prevention and improve crisis and emergency response in their communities, strengthening the impact of our humanitarian assistance.

SOR HERMINIA RETIREMENT HOME, SANTA CRUZ DEL QUICHÉ

As a part of our humanitarian work in Santa Cruz del Quiché, at CADENA Jewish Community of Guatemala, we carried out an intervention at the Sor Herminia Retirement Home to strengthen the capacities of the staff and provide direct care for residents.

We worked alongside our volunteers, who participated in training sessions for the center's personnel. Through practical, reflective activities, we provided tools for comprehensive and dignified elderly care, centering empathy, emotional support, and emergency preparedness.

We also delivered winter kits to residents, helping mitigate the effects of low temperatures in the region. These kits directly benefited 48 people.

SAN JOSÉ LA RINCONADA

During May, we carried out a humanitarian intervention in the San José La Rinconada village, in the municipality of Jocotenango, Sacatepéquez, as one of our efforts to reduce disaster risk and promote a collective culture of prevention within the community.

We were joined by over 140 volunteers from the Katz Yeshiva High School of South Florida. Over the course of two days, we introduced CADENA CJC's work, installed a community water storage system, cleaned streets and river banks, and painted a mural.

NATIONAL INSTITUTE FOR DIVERSIFIED BASIC EDUCATION (INEB-D)

As a part of our commitment to local risk management, we carried out an intervention in Suchitepéquez.

We installed water fountains for students at the National Institute for Diversified Basic Education (INEB-D), benefiting around 1,600 people.

Aside from improving infrastructure, this intervention applied risk management principles and promoted safer and healthier school settings, especially in the face of challenges stemming from climate change and health emergencies.

CARLOS DUBÓN J.V. NATIONAL BASIC EDUCATION INSTITUTE

In Retalhuleu, we carried out a humanitarian intervention at the Carlos Dubón J.V. National Basic Education Institute to strengthen community resilience in school settings.

Thanks to the joint efforts of our team and the dedication of 27 volunteers, we built a school path that currently allows students and teachers to walk safely during the rainy season. This improvement in infrastructure directly benefited around 1,700 people, making a difference in daily school life.

EL RODEO, ESCUINTLA, ESCUINTLA

On March 25, we organized a medical brigade in El Rodeo, Escuintla. Together with Fundación Transformando Vidas, Bountiful Children's Foundation, and the community's Health Post, we welcomed families from Don Pancho, La Trinidad, and El Rancho. Throughout the day, our medical team and volunteers assisted over 80 people facing vulnerability free of charge.

1006 ALERT, FLOOD ANTICIPATION

From October 28 to 30, our CADENA Jewish Community of Guatemala team, with the support of CADENA Mexico volunteers, worked alongside community leaders in the villages of Setaña, Chioyá, Sehaché, and Sacristal, in Alta Verapaz, to prevent risks and strengthen community organization.

We directly benefited over 3,000 people through this humanitarian intervention, providing tools to anticipate floods and prepare for the rainy season.

Some of our main actions included distributing 600 food kits, 600 family hygiene kits, and 40 personal protection kits for COLREDES members, as well as installing 4 water harvesting, storage, and filtering systems, with training sessions on their proper use. We also carried out medical brigades, providing direct care and free medications, as well as the delivery of supplies for community health centers.

Additionally, we held community organization and risk management workshops to strengthen local leadership in anticipatory action before floods and other disasters.

We thank Start Network and the Guatemala Hub for their support through the Start Fund, as well as the tireless efforts of our local and international volunteers.

"What I learned the most from was teaming up with highly organized and resilient communities to face adversity".

– Galia Jaramillo, CADENA International volunteer.

Israel

During 2025, CADENA Israel consolidated its strategic positioning in humanitarian training, international volunteering, and community action, strengthening local response and its ties with the CADENA global network. Throughout the year, we promoted leadership and service programs that brought together delegations from various regions, connecting educational experiences with a direct impact on Israeli communities.

One of our most significant programs was our Humanitarian Gap Year Program, which continued to expand its capacity as a training platform for young leaders, combining resilience, identity, volunteering, and social action.

Among the year's most significant interventions was our work in kibbutzim in the south, where our volunteers contributed to the restoration of community life after months of extreme vulnerability. We also developed psychosocial support initiatives and spaces for encounter aimed at young people and survivors, integrating healing processes with service experiences.

Looking to the future, we seek to expand our horizons and deepen our work with vulnerable communities, as well as strengthen international networks of Jewish volunteers. Our vision is to continue developing models that integrate training, humanitarian action, and healing processes, forming conscious leaders and generating sustainable impact, guided by the values of Tikkun Olam and collective responsibility.

HAPPY PURIM

In March, thanks to our CADENA International network, we launched the “Happy Purim” campaign, which allowed us to organize a Purim celebration in Netiv HaAsara. The goal of this initiative was to bring a day of joy and normalcy back to families, especially children.

CADENA volunteers brought costumes, games, and mishloach manot (Purim baskets) and, for hours, created a safe environment so that the community's families and children could enjoy the festivities.

RECOVERY AND CLEAN-UP OF KIBBUTZ NAHAL OZ

In June 2025, CADENA Israel organized a work day at Kibbutz Nahal Oz.

CADENA volunteers, along with young people from various branches, spent the entire day cleaning, repairing, and restoring the kibbutz's facilities. They worked on the gardens, common areas, and restoring sections that had become unusable.

“The fact that, two years after those difficult events, we are here today preparing everything so that families can return to their homes speaks volumes about the resilient spirit of the people.”

— Ariela Tartakovsky, CADENA Israel volunteer.

EMOTIONAL SUPPORT FOR CHILDREN AND FAMILIES DISPLACED BY MISSILES

On June 23, 14 volunteers from CADENA Israel met at a hotel in Ranana with people evacuated from their homes due to the missile strike in Petah Tikva. There, they provided emotional and recreational support to 45 children and their families.

Our volunteers organized a fair with game stations, cotton candy, fresh popcorn, and a medical clown from Dream Doctors. Additionally, they distributed toys for the children.

"Today we made a difference, even though we are under constant missile fire, we are here to embrace our brothers and sisters who lost their homes and their peace of mind."

— Eitan Rozen, CADENA Israel volunteer.

CONSTRUCTION OF A COMMUNITY KITCHEN FOR KIBBUTZ HOLIT

As an initiative to support recovery efforts in conflict-affected Kibbutz Holit, CADENA Israel, together with JNF UK, organized the construction of an open-air community kitchen in the heart of the kibbutz.

Thanks to the financial and strategic support of JNF UK and the commitment and work of our volunteers, we were able to provide the community with a space to meet, share, and support each other in the process of rebuilding their resilience.

Mexico

2025 reaffirmed CADENA's guiding purpose: being present where we are most needed. Throughout the year, our team, volunteers, and partners responded to emergencies and supported communities in moments of great vulnerability, acting rapidly, humanely, and professionally to help those who are most in need. Additionally, 2025 marked a milestone, celebrating 20 years of humanitarian work, two decades of commitment to transforming indifference into action and of reaching millions of hearts.

Every action showcases the spirit that defines our work: the principle of Tikkun Olam, the belief that everyone shares a responsibility to contribute to repairing the world and making it a better place for all. At CADENA, we are confident in the power of working hand in hand: alongside communities, our volunteers, and allied organizations who share our mission.

Thanks to this joint effort, we keep strengthening our response capacity and extending the reach of our humanitarian impact.

Looking ahead, we renew our commitment to continue building ever more effective and sustainable responses in the face of humanitarian challenges. We firmly believe that, working hand in hand, and guided by the spirit of Tikkun Olam, we can continue bringing hope and support to vulnerable communities in our country.

FLOODS IN REYNOSA

In March, heavy rains caused severe flooding in Reynosa, Tamaulipas, damaging homes, disrupting basic services, and endangering the safety and health of hundreds of families. In response to this emergency, we activated an immediate humanitarian intervention.

Our Go Team, along with health and resilience teams, deployed to the field to deliver essential supplies: food baskets, blankets, cleaning kits, personal hygiene kits, and water filters. We also provided medical consultations and distributed medications.

MACCABI CAMP HUMANITARIAN INTERVENTION

In January, we organized another edition of Maccabi Miami Camp at Abekany Camp, with 105 young people participating in an intensive humanitarian training experience. As the program concluded, we carried out two key field interventions, made possible through collaboration with Maccabi Miami, the Pro Mazahua Foundation, and the Boys & Girls Club of the State of Mexico.

In the first intervention, our brigades delivered 750 food baskets and 2,250 blankets to Mazahua families affected by frost in communities in San Felipe del Progreso, State of Mexico. In the second, we provided 300 backpacks and 300 school supply kits, in addition to 45 medical consultations and 50 dental consultations at the Boys & Girls Club of the State of Mexico.

In total, we benefited more than 3,900 people, strengthening the impact of our humanitarian work.

"Maccabi is an opportunity for us to raise awareness among young people, but above all, to transform their attitude into proactive action for those who need it most."

— Sanahe García, Director of Humanitarian Education, CADENA Mexico.

RESPONSE TO HURRICANE ERICK

In June, Hurricane Erick struck the Mexican Pacific coast, leaving communities in Oaxaca and Guerrero severely affected by structural damage, isolation, and critical conditions in terms of health, food, and hygiene.

From CADENA Mexico, we activated a two-phase emergency humanitarian intervention to address the urgent needs of the population.

In the first phase, we conducted a Damage Assessment and Needs Analysis (DANA) in 13 communities, enabling an effective response focused on immediate well-being. We provided medical and psychological consultations and delivered essential supplies: food baskets, cleaning kits, hygiene kits, mosquito nets, electrolyte bottles, water filters, and solar lamps.

We relied on the support of volunteers in logistics, distribution, and community outreach, benefiting more than 6,300 people in total.

FLOODS IN PUEBLA

In June, we activated a phased humanitarian response in Puebla to support communities affected by heavy rainfall.

In the municipalities of Izúcar de Matamoros and Tepeojuma, at least 40 homes suffered severe flooding after the La Galarza irrigation canal overflowed. In the community of Ajolotla, Chignahuapan, 180 houses were damaged by the rains.

Between June 10 and 30, we carried out three interventions in these communities, benefiting more than 1,250 people. With the participation of 13 volunteers, we distributed food baskets, hygiene kits, blankets, electrolyte bottles, and water filters.

SIERRA DE DURANGO

Between November 21 and 24, our youth volunteers delivered direct aid to communities in the Sierra de Durango region, affected by low temperatures and frost.

Over four days, we distributed 1,500 food baskets and blankets, and provided medical and dental consultations in the municipality of Pueblo Nuevo. Thanks to the commitment of our volunteers and team, we helped more than 6,000 people.

"We visited communities in the state of Puebla that were affected by the heavy rains, which caused severe flooding in several homes. We helped them with cleaning and hygiene kits and food supplies so they could cope with this unexpected event."

— Eluzay Hernandez Sotero, Coordinator of Humanitarian Operations, CADENA Mexico.

RESPONSE TO FROST AND FLOODING IN SAN LUIS POTOSÍ

In October, heavy rains, flooding, and frost severely impacted communities in the Huasteca Potosina region, with low temperatures exacerbating the vulnerability of the population.

CADENA launched a direct intervention in Tamazunchale and Xilitla. For four days, we distributed food baskets, hygiene and cleaning kits, electric grills, cots with mattresses, blankets, face masks, toothbrushes, water filters, and solar lamps, benefiting more than 290 families.

BRIGADES IN SANTIAGO TIANGUISTENCO

During the first half of the year, we implemented a sustained model of humanitarian healthcare in Santiago Tianguistenco, State of Mexico, through the “Haber-Holding Brigades.”

In six interventions between April and July, we served communities such as San José Mezapa II Section, the Municipal Seat, Tzitzicazapa, Mumana-Atl, Techmaninalli, and Tlacuitlapa. We offered medical, dental, and psychosocial consultations; responded to an emergency; and conducted six resilience workshops, deworming campaigns, the rehabilitation of a community space, and oral hygiene workshops.

In addition, we distributed food baskets, cleaning kits, blankets, mattresses, toothpaste, and toothbrushes, benefiting 1,822 people.

“I am very grateful to CADENA for giving me the tools and equipment necessary to do this work. Children will grow up differently because they received timely care. [...] I feel fulfilled and happy to be a part of it. I hope more dentists join so that this impact reaches even further.”

— Dr. Camila Beltrán, volunteer dentist with CADENA Mexico.

COMPREHENSIVE FLOOD RESPONSE

During October, a series of floods caused by torrential rains severely affected several states, causing significant damage and losses in already vulnerable communities. From CADENA Mexico, with the support of our volunteers and humanitarian action networks, we deployed a coordinated response to assist the affected communities in their recovery.

In Veracruz, one of the hardest-hit states, we carried out eight interventions in six municipalities, benefiting more than 24,000 people. We delivered drinking water, food, blankets, hygiene and cleaning kits, solar lamps, cots, and community water filters, in addition to providing medical consultations and medications to address immediate health needs.

Our response also extended to Hidalgo, where we provided direct support to more than 6,000 people, and to San Luis Potosí, where we assisted more than 3,000 people with basic supplies. In Puebla, we combined the delivery of humanitarian aid with medical, dental, and psychosocial care, reaching more than 2,000 people.

In Querétaro, we worked in communities in the Sierra Gorda region, supporting more than 1,100 people, while in Nayarit we reached more than 3,500 people with food baskets and essential items.

Panama

During 2025, the CADENA Panama office experienced significant growth in its operational capacity and community impact. Throughout this period, we strengthened internal processes, expanded our network of volunteers and partners, and responded more efficiently to community needs.

Among our main achievements are the consolidation of humanitarian projects, the delivery of donations to vulnerable communities, and the establishment of collaboration agreements with local stakeholders who share our mission.

This work would not have been possible without the commitment of our volunteers, donors, and partners, who have demonstrated that cooperation is fundamental to generating a real and lasting impact.

Looking ahead, we will focus on strengthening disaster preparedness, expanding our territorial presence, and developing preventative programs that reduce vulnerabilities. CADENA Panama aspires to continue growing as a reliable and professional organization, capable of responding to the country's needs, always guided by the values of service and social commitment that define us.

RESILIENCE IN LAS GARZAS

The municipality of Las Garzas, inhabited by 54,000 people, is mainly made up of irregular communities located around areas with high flood risks and precarious sanitary conditions, without access to safe water or proper waste management.

Since 2024, at CADENA Panama, we have organized a coordinated response to the needs of these populations with the support of the Ministry of Health, the local health center, the Municipality of Panama, the community board, and community leaders.

Our efforts included the creation of vector control and community monitoring brigades, waste management workshops and community clean-ups, the installation of water harvesting systems, tanks, and filters, educational campaigns on dengue prevention and the delivery of supplies to the local health center.

Thanks to this project, we reached the “Dengue Zero” goal, eradicating the disease in the municipality, and organized health visits for people living with disabilities, provided safe water to schools and child care centers, helped people access the Ministry of Health, and motivated more municipalities to replicate our initiative.

This year, during the rainy season, we reinvigorated our fight against dengue through workshops and training sessions for community leaders, the installation of water storage tanks and rainwater harvesting systems, and providing support to families affected by scabies with hygiene kits and the industrial drycleaning of clothing and bedsheets.

MEDICAL BRIGADES IN CURUNDÚ

Upon noticing the limited access to essential medical services in the Curundú Children's Dining Hall, at CADENA Panama, we mobilized health teams to bring preventative care and essential services to the community's children and families. Through odontology, general medicine, optometry and phonoaudiology brigades, our team, alongside professionals, UDELAS University students, community volunteers, and the Ministry of Health, carried out interventions in the Dining Hall.

Thanks to the support of Colgate, we conducted dental checkups, basic cleanings, fluoride applications, and early cavity detection. Meanwhile, our medical volunteers monitored vital signs, carried out nutritional evaluations, and educated patients on healthy habits. Regarding optometry and phonoaudiology, our team performed visual exams and screenings, as well as auditory and language evaluations.

These interventions benefited over 400 children, parents, caretakers, and elderly adults, providing comprehensive healthcare and the opportunity to follow up on prevention, early assistance, and treatment processes.

Health and Resilience

CADENA Health and Resilience is a multidisciplinary team of physical and mental health specialists, comprising medical, dental, and psychosocial support professionals. Its purpose is to provide comprehensive, free, and high-quality care to populations affected by disasters and crises, while promoting prevention and resilience. In addition to consultations, the team offers psychoeducation and health management workshops.

In 2025, we strengthened our commitment to comprehensive health and community resilience through humanitarian interventions in emergency and crisis contexts, particularly in vulnerable communities. Through medical brigades, psychosocial support, and dental services, we expanded our reach and further consolidated a model of care centered on dignity, equitable access, and cultural relevance.

In 2025, we provided:

General Healthcare:
CADENA’s medical brigades enable us to bring essential healthcare to communities affected by disasters, crises, migration, and limited access to public services.

We prioritize children, older adults, pregnant women, and people with disabilities, ensuring timely and respectful care.

Dental Care
Access to dental services remains limited in many vulnerable communities.

Since our early work, we have integrated dental teams into our interventions, offering essential care and oral hygiene workshops. These efforts contribute to prevention and to improving the overall quality of life of the people we serve.

Mental Health and Psychosocial Support
At CADENA, we are aware that recovering after a disaster also involves emotional well-being. For this reason, we seek to strengthen mental health through psychosocial support.

In our interventions, we focus on trauma management, reducing post-disaster anxiety, and strengthening community bonds, promoting long-term resilience.

Immediate Response and Rescue

EMERGENCY IN THE DOMINICAN REPUBLIC

In April, the ceiling of the Jet Set nightclub in the Dominican Republic collapsed, causing an emergency in which over 200 people lost their lives and over 150 were wounded. In the face of this situation, we deployed an immediate response humanitarian intervention.

Our Go Team worked on the collapse zone, offering technical and logistical support in search and rescue efforts, while our psychosocial team assisted people affected by these devastating events. Together with the Jewish community of Santo Domingo, the Embassy of Israel in the Dominican Republic, local authorities, and allies, we were able to provide immediate relief and emotional support where it was needed most.

RESPONSE TO TEXAS FLOODS

On July 4th, the Texas Hill Country region was devastated by floods caused by torrential rainfall, resulting in significant human and material losses. In response to this situation, we launched two humanitarian interventions to support those affected by this emergency.

During an initial intervention, our Go Team, CADENA's search and rescue unit, arrived at the disaster zone to assist in cleanup efforts and the rehabilitation of damaged living spaces, working hand in hand with local response teams.

In August, we returned to continue supporting response efforts one month after the emergency, thanks to Airlink and Shalom Austin. Alongside local organizations, our team helped remove debris, overgrowth, and solid fuels to reduce fire risk, provided psychosocial support to affected individuals, and conducted assessments of structural damage, uninhabitable homes, and collapsed areas.

WILDFIRE PREVENTION IN THE STATE OF MEXICO

In the context of our alliance with Probosque in the State of Mexico, our Go Team carried out an intervention aimed at preventing wildfires in the municipality of Jilotzingo. This initiative set off with the training of 20 rescue workers on prevention measures to strengthen their technical and operational knowledge, allowing them to act before large-scale fires occur.

After, we carried out a field work day to create firewalls and carry out scheduled fires, key strategies to reduce the spread of wildfires and protect forests. 15 of our volunteers also partook in these activities.

WEEKLY URBAN RESCUE WATCH PATROLS (MEXICO)

Throughout the year, CADENA's Go Team launched a weekly patrol system in Mexico City in collaboration with Rescate Urbano México. Each weekend, our team responded to urban emergencies, including car accidents, fires, fall injuries, preventive evacuations, and other common incidents in the urban context.

As a result, we carried out over 50 rescue services throughout the year, in operational coordination with Rescate Urbano México.

TRAINING

2024-2025 RESCUE ACADEMY GRADUATION

Throughout the first four months of the year, we completed the last trimester of CADENA's Search and Rescue Academy, during which we concluded the Operative Level Vehicular Rescue course. This final stage in the training of those who participated was focused on the development of the necessary technical and operational skills to effectively join the Go Team's work.

At the end of the program, we carried out an official graduation ceremony, marking the conclusion of their academic process and the beginning of their active participation within the team.

As a result, 13 new rescue workers joined CADENA's Go Team, strengthening our response capacity in the face of disasters and emergencies.

GO TEAM RECERTIFICATION PROGRAM

During the first quarter, the Go Team completed its annual recertification process through theoretical exams, practical evaluations, and a collapsed structure drill at the UNAM Canine Unit. Throughout the year, the team participated in monthly training sessions to maintain and update their skills, with a special focus on technological search and rescue, vertical rescue in urban areas, and vehicle extrication.

As a result of this ongoing effort, 34 rescuers were recertified and are available for activation, strengthening our operational capacity to respond to emergencies and disasters at any time.

INTERINSTITUTIONAL EVENTS AND EXERCISES

Throughout the year, CADENA's Go Team participated in various inter-institutional exercises and events to strengthen knowledge sharing and coordination with other specialized organizations.

Among the most notable activities were the Collapsed Structure Search and Rescue (BREC) drill in La Posta, the disaster relief collaboration exercise of the Conference of American Armies, Péekáamba, and the National Meeting of Search and Rescue Canine Units organized by the Mexican Kennel Club.

WATER FOR ALL

Agua Ya

At CADENA, we are aware that access to safe water and sanitation is vital for disaster recovery and to build community resilience. Because of this, we provide this essential resource to vulnerable communities through:

- Emergency response: we distribute supplies such as water filters and purifying tablets after disasters and emergencies.
- Construction and rehabilitation of water wells: this includes the excavation of systems and the installation of water pumps, elevated tanks, distribution networks, and solar energy systems in hard-to-reach areas.
- Rainwater harvesting (Water for All): we install rainwater harvesting systems and storage tanks in schools and communities.

Through these actions, our water projects contribute to the reduction of water-borne diseases and strengthen social structures and community resilience.

In 2025, we installed:

14 rainwater harvesting systems and distributed

876 water filters.

FROM WASTE TO CHANGE

From Waste to Change was the winning project at the 2014 CADENA Initiative and has since been included in our organization's regular activities. Its aim is to build roofs to protect families who are vulnerable to the effects of rain and flooding.

Roofs are made from recycled polyaluminium containers, aiming to reduce environmental impact and to educate communities on recycling, sustainability, and humanitarian aid.

Thanks to our joint work with Fundación Banorte, SIC, and Pascual y Promesa, in 2025, we continued delivering bamboo and sheets made from polyaluminium containers to dignify the roofs of Mexican families.

In 2025, we collected

44,943

polyaluminium containers,

which are equivalent to 1,498 kilograms of material.

We installed
117 roofs
benefiting
556 people

in the communities of El Santito, Palo Amarillo, La Campanilla, Casa Nueva, El Sitio Centro, El Ocote, and Rio Frio, in the State of Mexico, and La Carpa, Morelos.

Education and Training

At CADENA, we understand that the first step towards changing the world is knowing that things can be different. Because of this, through our Education and Training programs, we seek to plant the seeds of change in people of all ages, supporting our volunteers through learning processes to foster a humanitarian conscience in the face of current global challenges.

Programs for Schools

Regeneration

It is an international educational experience that combines hands-on, project-based learning with real-world challenges through interactive resources, social entrepreneurship initiatives, and humanitarian interventions.

Learn more on our website: becomeregeneration.com

It is a social entrepreneurship contest that aims to raise awareness among high school students and empower them to become agents of change through the development of humanitarian innovation projects grounded in values and social responsibility.

The CADENA Initiative serves as a platform that listens to and amplifies the ideas of its participants, fostering learning and awareness.

It is a training program aimed at young leaders aged 16 to 18 who become representatives of CADENA within their schools.

Throughout this process, they receive ongoing training from their madrihim (mentor figures) and are responsible for motivating other students through positive leadership.

In 2025:

Around 689 students from 29 schools participated in this transformative program.

Students from 66 schools in 12 countries designed and presented social entrepreneurship projects throughout the development of the competition.

102 students were part of CADENA Clubs in Miami. Meanwhile, in Mexico, over 117 people participated in awareness-raising and humanitarian activities in CADENA Young.

Programs for Volunteers

It consists of a training process to strengthen our psychosocial response in the field.

Each guide learns to promote resilience in communities through informal educational activities, interactive tools, and group awareness-raising exercises to guide people toward effective emotional recovery.

It is a program designed to support migrant people seeking to catch up academically and enter the formal education system.

We connect students with volunteers who provide virtual personalized tutoring sessions in various subjects, including English and Mathematics.

It is an intensive course for first responders seeking to develop and strengthen the skills needed to become field leaders. Throughout the process, they learn to conduct needs assessments and identify critical activation points in disaster zones.

Once they complete their training, our Pathfinders become an essential part of our humanitarian interventions.

Humanitarian Gap Year

It is a comprehensive humanitarian aid, rescue, and social action program that equips young participants with tools to respond to crises and create community impact.

Through training sessions led by experts and humanitarian interventions in vulnerable communities, we promote empathy, social awareness and Tikkun Olam: the shared responsibility to repair the world.

This year, we trained
24 people as Humanitarian
Training Guides

33 volunteers
supported 27 migrant children through individual academic tutoring.

40 volunteers
from CADENA trained
during 6 sessions
to become leaders in future humanitarian field interventions.

This year, 68 young people from Mexico, the United States, and Panama worked alongside vulnerable populations and community centers while experiencing a complete humanitarian educational process.

CADENA Initiative 2025

During the month of June, we celebrated with great excitement the long-awaited CADENA 2025 Initiative trip. This time, we had the honor of visiting Colombia, where the winning teams from Argentina, Brazil, Colombia, Costa Rica, Spain, the United States, Guatemala, Mexico, Panama, Peru, and Venezuela gathered. Each group shared their social entrepreneurship project and experienced a transformative journey by learning firsthand about CADENA's humanitarian work in different parts of the world.

Throughout the trip, the participants and their companions learned how a humanitarian intervention is organized and carried out. They also had the opportunity to participate in two real-life interventions in preschools in Bogotá. There, they played and danced with the children, created crafts, painted murals to beautify the spaces, and planted trees and other plants.

During our stay at the camp, the awards ceremony for the winners of the CADENA 2025 Initiative also took place. During the event, we recognized and celebrated the effort and creativity of each young leader who seeks to transform the world with their ideas and their desire to make a difference.

In addition to marking the end of an unforgettable edition of the CADENA Initiative, this trip represented the beginning of a deeper commitment by our youth to humanitarian action and social change.

Humanitarian Training

Humanitarian training is the bridge that connects theory and practice. It is made up of dynamic programs based on non-formal education, custom-made so that every person can find their cause and commit to humanitarian action.

MAGUEN KIDZ

This is an event held at the Maguen David Community in Mexico to introduce children and their families to CADENA's program. Over the course of four days, our volunteers guided children through immersive activities, including a disaster simulation, to present CADENA's mission and actions. This year, we gathered more than 1,000 people.

Maguen Kidz is a way to show our work to our community's families and newer generations.

HUMANITARIAN BOOTCAMPS:

We offer three-day sessions focused on building solidarity, educating on humanitarian crises and simulating field experiences to improve our response.

CAMPS

These are a first approach to the world of humanitarian action for children and teenagers, where we design custom activities for different groups, aiming to strengthen bonds and motivate more people to practice Tikkun Olam.

In 2025:

Over 200 people participated in Humanitarian Training programs in Mexico, including Maguen Kidz, Maccabi Miami, the CADENA Initiative, and Camp Sababa.

STORIES OF OUR VOLUNTEERS:

Humans of CADENA

"Good people help each other.

In early April, the heat and rain signaled the beginning of a new emergency. We met early at the airport, aware that it would be a complex intervention. On the plane, we were traveling with people we knew from other missions, ready to work together again. Our destination: Reynosa, Tamaulipas.

Upon arrival, the surroundings spoke for themselves: an empty airport, closed businesses, and an atmosphere of uncertainty. We immediately moved to join the rest of the team. By 10:00 a.m., the Go Team and Medical Team were already gathered at a camp set up among flooded streets, where families were trying to salvage what little they had left.

We began activities without delay, providing medical attention and listening to the people. Throughout the day, we treated cases of dehydration, exhaustion, and other ailments, amidst difficult conditions. That evening, the reconnaissance team shared information about communities that remained cut off, with people still inside their homes. The next day we headed to those areas.

On the ground, it became clear that the needs went beyond medical care. Many people were facing profound losses and great uncertainty about their future. Our work also consisted of accompanying them, listening to them, and responding to their needs as best we could.

In the following days, we visited shelters and installed water filters, seeking to improve basic conditions for those who had been displaced. Each place had its own dynamics, and each person, a different story.

Finally, we held meetings with local authorities to coordinate efforts and better understand the context.

These conversations, although sometimes complex, are part of the necessary work to be able to act more effectively.

We continue working with the conviction that helping means collaborating, listening, and adapting to the real needs of each community.

- Luis Ibarra, volunteer with the Health team, CADENA Mexico.

"We started out in the neighborhood when it wasn't what it is now; we built it little by little. We saw that there was a need in the neighborhood: there were no dining halls, so we got started with what we had.

We are so grateful to CADENA, their simply calling and asking what we need is so important for us. It's good to want to live well, to aspire to that, and some people and organizations save you and keep making you want the best. And that is what we teach children in the dining hall: to aim for a better life."

- Gina, leader at the Ladeti dining hall.

"It was an experience that marked me. Painting, cooking, and sharing with the community not only connected us to the community but also brought us together as a team. The most valuable thing was seeing how a small gesture can create a great smile. I leave with my heart full and more motivated than ever to help."

- Mora, CADENA Argentina volunteer.

"We are here today with you who come from CADENA Mexico at Plan del Encinal. You brought aid, but it's hard to make it reach us because we don't have a bridge. It's hard for you to cross over, and that isn't fair.

We also suffer when there's an emergency, if someone falls ill, or if we need to buy medicine or food; the rising river won't let us pass. We only have what we grow: a bit of corn, beans, but we need to go out for everything else, and we can't.

Today we are receiving help, food kits and cleaning supplies, and we are very grateful. Maybe God sent you."

- Josefa Soto, beneficiary.

"Maguen Kidz was a magical experience. Being able to share with the children everything we do at CADENA and seeing them put on their t-shirts to help, excited about the adventure, filled me with hope, seeing that our future is in good hands, with children who are empathetic and ready to help."

- Mercedes Díaz, CADENA Mexico volunteer.

"It feels good to be able to give back and help people who have lost everything. People from all over the world are here today with a common mission and aim."

- Fania Pupko, CADENA Israel volunteer.

"Giving back joy, music, and happiness to a severely affected community is a symbol that we are more resilient than ever."

- Ariela Adato, CADENA Israel volunteer.

"CADENA has shown its support, since, thanks to them, we acquired water filters, and they came here mainly to help provide information about the filters: how to use them, their maintenance, how to place them, how to take them down, how to assemble them..."

This was very helpful for us, to carry out this project, for everyone to be able to drink safe water."

- José Orozco, Comunidad Iniciativa volunteer, CADENA Jewish Community of Guatemala.

"We thank you from the bottom of our hearts for the help you have given us, because you're not paid for this, and we thank you for all your help, such as the food and hygiene kits for disasters."

-Elvira Delgado, beneficiary.

"Excellent service, and may God bless you. The service was excellent. May God continue to bless you so that you can continue helping more people as you have been doing."

- Adelita Molina Chavarría, beneficiary

"We visited Alta Verapaz, Guatemala, to activate the 1006 Flood Anticipation Alert. What I liked most about participating with CADENA Guatemala was reinforcing the capacities of the communities we visited."

My experience during this intervention strengthened my commitment to continue doing Tikkun Olam, repairing the world. My biggest learning experience was teaming up with highly organized and resilient communities to face adversity."

- Galia Jaramillo, CADENA International volunteer.

"It has been really hard, I lost everything in my house: the door, wardrobes, clothes, my kitchen and refrigerator... I lost a lot of things when the flood came. I thank God because I was blessed, and all of you who supported us, too."

- Karen Ortiz Mendoza, beneficiary.

"It's very traumatizing, because seeing everything flooded is very hard, and knowing that when furniture gets wet it's lost. And most of all, the children who get sick from the water, and staying in the water until they can be aided is the hardest thing. [...] I ask God to keep opening doors to Fundación CADENA so you can keep blessing others, because what you gave us was a great blessing."

Thank you to everyone we met, because they have a really nice way of treating us. Also, the situation we're going through... and being treated with such love helps a lot."

- Carmen Coronado García, beneficiary.

"My experience as a volunteer at CADENA has been very gratifying. I think that being able to help and share and listen to so many people can really fill our humanitarian hearts. I believe this is an opportunity to help from where each of us is, we all have different stories, and the hands that help and let themselves be helped make us feel like a beautiful community."

For me, the most meaningful part is being able to create a different space for children in adverse circumstances; sometimes we forget the importance of playing or having a space to be children in the middle of so many adult issues.

That is the most important part for me, to give them this space."

- María José Sanchez,
CADENA Costa Rica volunteer.

"We are here at Chacarita helping people affected by floods, which were awful here. This is a titanic mission. It's the first time we've done something this big. We are addressing the needs of 550 families that lost almost everything: their houses, furniture, food, and appliances, and what I really want to say is that for us it is gratifying to help and we receive more than we give."

We love listening to stories and knowing that we're doing our part for these stories to become happier and to give people some calm in these very difficult moments."

- Silvia Raijman,
CADENA Costa Rica volunteer.

Letter to Our volunteers:

Twenty years of humanitarian action are not built on their own, but are the fruits of the effort of hundreds of people who have given their time and dedication to reach those who need it most.

From the beginning, volunteers have been the heart of CADENA, because no one understands the meaning hand in hand assistance like those who decide to leave their everyday life behind to serve others. You embody our values, give life to our mission, and bring Tikkun Olam to action.

Thank you for your willingness to go wherever you are needed, never minding the distance or difficulty, for your tireless dedication, your boldness in the face of adversity, and your eagerness to become the change you want to see in the world. Thank you for wearing our shirt with pride and for offering your hand to those who need it most.

Every one of you sustains our work and allows our story to continue to be written with each intervention, each item of aid, and each strengthened community.

You are our motor; the force that drives us every day towards a better future.

And today, with deep gratitude and admiration, we thank you for these 20 years... and for all that is yet to come.

With great pride and warmth,
CADENA

Partners and Allies

A true partner is an invaluable ally that sustains and strengthens our work with their continuous support.

At CADENA, we are proud to count on businesses, institutions, and families who collaborate with us to enable humanitarian help to reach those who need it most.

Thanks to every one of you, we can continue responding to disasters, crises, and emergencies and sustainably building resilience around the world.

Transparency

As a humanitarian organization, at CADENA, accountability is a vital part of our work that allows us to transparently display how we use our resources.

- 1. Most of our resources are allocated to our humanitarian operations.
- 2. We maintain a low percentage of administrative expenses thanks to our wide volunteer network.
- 3. Most of our funding comes from allied institutions and organizations.
